

Privacy Policy

This privacy policy explains what types of information we collect from you, how we may use it, who we may disclose it to and how you can change information that you provide to us.

The privacy policy applies to all members of Parenteral Nutrition Down Under Inc. (PNDU) and users of the PNDU website (www.pndu.org). By becoming a member of PNDU and/or using the website, you consent to our collection, use and transfer of information provided by you in accordance with this policy.

1 Information we collect

We collect any information that you provide to us through the Membership Form and website, including your name, address, your birthdate (if provided) your contact details and any information provided in the Membership Form or through our website. The website may also collect information about your computer, smartphone, tablet or other mobile device, such as the device number, location and other information which could identify you.

2 How we use the information

We may use and disclose your personal information only for the primary purpose of furthering the objectives of PNDU Inc for which it is collected, for reasonably expected secondary purposes which are related to the primary purpose and in other circumstances authorised by law. We will generally use the information only to:

- (a) communicate with you;
- (b) allow you to use the website, and
- (c) comply with our legal obligations.

3 Disclosure of information

We may disclose your personal information to:

- (a) other companies or individuals who assist us in providing services or who perform functions on PNDU's behalf;
- (b) courts, tribunals and regulatory authorities; and
- (c) anyone else to whom you authorise us to disclose the information to (either expressly or impliedly).

We will only transfer your personal information to third parties, other than those listed above, in the following circumstances:

- (a) to protect or defend:
 - (i) our legal rights or property; or
 - (ii) our employees, agents and contractors;
- (b) to protect the safety and security of our website and other clients;
- (c) protect against fraud or for risk management purposes;
- (d) if we believe your actions violate this privacy policy; or
- (e) to comply with law or legal process;

4 Your rights

You have the right to request a copy of the information that we hold about you. If you would like a copy of some or all of your personal information, please contact us.

We want to make sure that your personal information is up to date. You may ask us to correct or remove information which you think is inaccurate. If you have any queries or concerns about your rights please contact the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC).

5 Changes

From time to time we may modify this privacy policy to reflect industry initiatives or changes in the law, our information collection and use practices, the features of our services, or technology, and such modifications shall be effective upon posting. Your continued membership or use of our website after we notify you of our revised privacy policy signifies your acceptance of the revised privacy policy. Please review this privacy policy regularly to ensure you are updated as to any changes.

6 Contact us

If you have any questions about our privacy practices or any of the terms or conditions of this privacy policy, please contact us at contactpndu@gmail.com

This privacy policy was last modified on the 15 July 2015 and is effective immediately.
